CITY INTELLIGENCE.

( For Additional City Intelligence see Fifth Bage.) A RECONVICTION OF AN OLD OFFENDER.

During the year 1865 the papers of this city had frequent occasion to notice certain facts relative to a series of frauds and forgeries, conrelative to a series of frauds and forgeries, connected principally with the subject of soldiers' bounties. A number of persons were involved, either immediately or remotely, in these fraudulent operations, which assumed a somewhat stupendons magnitude. But the leading spirit, or chief operator in the infamous affair, was Robert M. Lee, the son of an attorney of that name, who resided in Sixth street, above Arch, and who was well known to a great number of our citizens. This young man, even before and who was well known to a great number of our citizens. This young man, even before these transactions were brought to light, had acquired a somewhat unenviable reputation; but even those who knew him best were astonished at the extent of his defections as they were deve oped and exposed.

He was arrested and brought to trial in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, charged with forgery, in the issuing of fraudulent enlistment papers. At this trial there were forty different charges against him to that effect, all of which were substantiated by the clearest and most positive proofs. It was, moreover, shown that by means of these frauds the sum of ten thousand three hundred and fifty dollars was pakit into his hands. He was convicted, and on July 1st, 1865, was sentenced to an imprisonment of three years.

A story was told about that time of the

A story was told about that time of the man-A story was told about that time of the man-ner in which his arrest was effected. Detective Officers Joshua Taggart and George Smith were on his track, and having received information that he had entered his lather's residence, on Sixth street, the house was watched during the entire night, but no evidence of his being there was discovered. In the morning the officers was discovered. In the morning the officers procured a ladder and entered the house through a second-story window. They then prosecuted a vigorous search, examining every nook and corner in every room and cupboard, from the attic to the caller without facilities. from the attic to the cellar, without finding the slightest trace of the culprit. The officers were confounded, and were about to depart, when one of them, having his attention attracted by a crack in the door of a sideboard or some similar piece of furniture, was induced to open the door, and there found Mr. Lee, folded up in a space that would not have been considered sufficiently spacious to contain a person of half sufficiently spacious to contain a person of half his physical dimensions.

After his conviction and imprisonment, Au-drew Johnson, the President of the United States, actuated, doubtless, by that same generous sensibility which induces him daily to pardon Rebels, forgers, and counterfeiters, pardoned this criminal, and set him loose again upon the community which he had so wantonly

New charges of fraud and forgeries were, however, preferred against him, and he was again arrested and tried before the same tribunal. At this trial, also, the testimony was conclusive, and he was convicted and sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

At both these trials Judge Grier, of the United States Supreme Court, presided. This learned Judge tried these cases in consequence of the conscientious scrupies of Judge Cadwalader, who requested to be excused from that duty on the ground that he wished the accused to have the benefit of an unbiassed mind. The second trial was conducted with a knowledge, on the part of all connected with it, of his having been pardoned of his conviction by the President.

The second conviction resulted as did the first. The President could not withstand the irresistable and fascinating influences that were brought to bear in behalf of the prisoner, and that extraordinary generosity and magnanimity.

brought to bear in behalf of the prisoner, and that extraordinary generosity and magnanimity of soul that prompted the first pardon induced him to grand a second, and once more was the culprit relieved from custody.

It is no more than just to remark that both these pardons were in a great measure attributable to the indomitable and persevering efforts of the prisoner's wife. She is represented as a woman of more than ordinary persuasive powers, and she left no means unemployed that a woman can employ to accomplish the release of her convicted husband. She was almost ubiquitous, restiess, sleepless. At all times and everywhere she was at work. Senators, Representativer, judges, jurors—in fact, everybody who had any induced, or could in any way be influenced—were approached with tears and supplications, and it would have been impossible for even a sterner nature than that of our susceptible President to have avoided validing to sterner nature than that of our susceptible President to have avoided yielding to the pressure and power of so much beauty, the pressure and power of so much beauty, eloquence, and matrimonial solicitude.

But Mr. Lee did not profit by these better lessons of experience. The facility with which he escaped these troubles only made him the more daring and reckiess. He had found a friend at Washington, and he doubtless imagined that he could in all coming time lean upon him for impunity and safety. For some time he had disappeared from his old haunts and his old associations, and few knew anything of his whereabouts. He has, however, again turned up, and been detected in the exercise of his peculiar and favorite propensities.

In the latter part of the month of September last, several torgeries were committed in Chicago. filinois. A man who gave the name of John Steele was arrested in the act of passing a forged check on the Union National Bank. The account of this arrest and commitment attracted the notice of one of our detectives, who addressed a letter to a friend in Chicago, requesting a description of the person calling himself Steele. The description was sent, and it answered precisely to that of Robert M. Lee. An investigation was instituted which resulted in an acknowled tion was instituted, which resulted in an acknowledgment on the part of the accused, and John Steele proves to be Robert M. Lee, the twice convicted, twice sentenced, twice imprisoned, and twice pardoned forger.

Upon his examination Lee affirmed that the check he attempted to pass was received by him from Colonel Cross (whose name has been associated with his in most of his former transactions), in payment of a loan to the amount of $500.

Lee, it appears from the papers, has again been tried, convicted, and sentenced to an imprisonment of thirteen years. His wife, it is alleged, has left the city, and gone to Chicago to try her extraordinary powers there. Whether they will have the same effect upon the Governor of Illinois as they had upon the sus-ceptible President of the United States, is a question yet to be determined.

THE TORCHLIGHT PARADE LAST NIGHT. There was a splendid turnout last night on the occasion of the returning of the United States Hose Company from Reading, The Company was received at the depot by a large turnout of the Department, and escorted to the Hose house. The torchlight procession was arranged as fol-

The display was a fine one, and attracted much attention. At the end of the procession a company of fautasticals paraded, causing much amusement by their old appearance and the moto carried—"Always willing, but never reads"

RIOTEE ARRESTED.—Last evening, as the aremen's procession was passing Eighth and Chesnut streets, one Captain Nathaniel R. Mills, halling from the Eighth District of New York city, endeavored to create a riot, and threatened and abused Mr. Samuel K. Wallington. He was arrested, and committed to prison by Alderman McMullen.

CORONER'S INQUEST IN THE CASE OF

CORONER'S INQUEST IN THE CARE OF THE BRANCHTOWN HOMICIDE.—An inquest was held by Coroner Taylor upon the body of James Hughes, yesterday alternoon. The latter died from the effects of a blow from a club in the hands of Robert Little.

The evidence showed that the men were in the employment of William Massey, who has a laim near Branchiowa; that they were not on very good terms before Saturday last, on which day the blows were given. They had a light early in the morning, growing out of Little throwing a gate against the leg of a horse which Hughes was currying. The fight was a somewhat desperate one, Hughes getting Little down and beating his head violently upon a stone.

Soon after the fight was over Little said that he would have revenge, and about 12 e'clock of the day Hughes was found sitting against the coach house in a state of insensibility, and Little alongside of him with a club in his hand, Hughes was taken to the house, where medical aid was provided for him, but he never recovered his consciousness, and died on the Thursday fellowing. Little was not seen in the neighborhood after Sunday.

Dr. Shanleigh, who made the post-moriem exa-borhood after Sunday.

Dr. Shapleigh, who made the post-mortem exa-Dr. Shapleigh, who made the post-mortem examination, testified that the skull was fractured, and that a portion of it pressed against the brain. From the charaster of the fractures a number of blows must have been given with a heavy instrument. The immediate cause of death was compression of the brain.

Two or three of the witnesses said that the club used by Little had been used for ramming posts.

No one that the Coroner was able to find had No one that the Coroner was able to find had witnessed the striking of Nughes, but John McMerfamin, a coachman on the place, testified that when he came up to Hughes be was lying with one of his hands over a bucket of oats, and it was supposed that he was struck down while going to feed the horses.

The Coroner's jury rendered a verdlet that the deceased came to his death by blows inflicted at the house of Robert Little, on the 20th day of October, 1866, from the effects of which he died October 26, 1866.

Camden Affairs.—The Shiffler Hose, No. 1, the Weccacoe Engine, No. 1, the New Jersey Hose, No. 5, and the United States Hook and Ladder Company, of Camden, took part in the reception of the United States Hose Company of your city, last evening. The different companies looked exceedingly well. The Weccacoe had their steamer in the line, which was gally decorated with wreaths, etc. The other companies had their hose carriages similarly decorated. The Chief Engineer and his assistants accompanied the procession. There were about two hundred firemen in the line, and were under the Marshalship of William Abies, of the Weccacoe Engine. CAMDEN AFFAIRS .- The Shiffler Hose, No.

INVESTIGATIONS BY A DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—A meeting of Democratic citizens of the Nineteenth Ward was held last evening at the corner of Norris street, and Franktord road, for the purpose of investigating into the alleged frauds said to have been committed at the late clerker.

alleged frauds said to have been committed at the late election.

Mr. Ferdinand Geisler was appointed chairman. The committee appointed at a previous meeting to investigate into the cases of alleged illegal voting, reported, through their chairman, that there had been about sixty persons discovered who had been guilty of the offense.

Many of these have already been held by Alderman Kerr to answer for the offense, in the sum of $1000. The meeting then adjourned until next Tuesday evening.

DEATH OF A MEMBER OF THE BAR.-Stephen Benton, a well-known member of the bar, died yesterday morning, at his residence in Germantown, after a short illness. Mr. Benton was at one time a member of Select Council. A meeting of the bar will be held to-day at 12 o'clock, to take action in reference to his death.

"ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE." - Mary Lyons, a prisoner confined in the Fourteenth Ward Station House, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging herself in the cell. She was about forty years of age, and had been for some time past leading a dissipated and years at life.

WATER RENTS,-The Register of Water will commence in a few days to deprive all premises of water where the water rent for 1866 has not been paid. Persons indebted will be compelled to pay heavy penalties, if the water is cut off, before they can get it again.

SLIGHT FIRE.—The alarm, last evening, about 7 o'clock, was caused by a slight fire at the dwelling corner of Twenty first and Arch streets. The fire was extinguished without much damage being done.

INSPECTIONS OF FLOUR AND MEAL.-The inspectors have been doing quite a good business during the past week, ending October 25, 1866. There were 6530 barrels of superfine flour and 8 barrels of rye inspected.

FALL FROM 'A HOUSE-TOP. — John H. West, aged thirty-two years, residing in Parrish street, fell from the top of a two-story building on Dickerson street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, and injured himself internally.

MILL ACCIDENT.—Edward Key, while at work yesterday at a mill in Manayunk, had his right arm shockingly lacerated by having it caught in machinery.

VALUABLE MEDICINE,-The sale of that remark able and truly valuable preparation, Perry Davis' Pain Killer, is constantly and rapidly increasing. During the past year the demand for the great remedy has been altogether unprecedented. Scarcely a week passes by during which we do not hear of some remarkable cure having been per formed within the circle of our acquaintance by the use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer.—Providence Geze-

The Oldest Medical Practice is that of the family. Long before doe ors were known, the head of the family examined and prescribed for the members. From the necessity of the case, the first and most important stage of every disease is treated by the patient's parents or nurse. This being so, how important that the means on hand should be simple, ample, and efficient! Humphrey's Homeopathic specifies (advertised in another column) perfectly meet this want, and should be in the hands of every intelligent family. Depot, No. 562 Broadway, N. Y.

HORESTY is the best policy in medicine as well as in other things. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine preparation of that unequalled spring medicine and blood purifier, decidedly superior to the poor imitations heretofore in the market. Trial proves it.
